In this compilation, a wide variety of well-known individuals from across the globe, including musicians, authors, and professional athletes, share stories of how they learned to release the conditions that block absolute love.

“Love Like God” already is receiving widespread praise, including an endorsement by Mark Victor Hansen, co-founder of the Chicken Soup for the Soul series: “If you’re ready to experience and express unconditional love ... read this book!”

Discover:

- That everything from autism to Alzheimer’s can be a gift
- How international peace can be achieved
- What every husband should know
- How to deal with addictions, in our own lives and others’
- Why releasing blame creates freedom
- The most valuable lesson medical students, nurses, and social workers can learn

Readers will be inspired to release blocks, to embrace every challenge as an opportunity for love, and to live without fear. Shearer says, “We are ready for a change in our perception, and ‘Love Like God’ gets the conversation started. We are challenged to ask: ‘If we put conditions on love, is it really love?’”

Celebrity Designer Anicia Bragg, along with internationally-renowned musician Deva Premal; Paramahansa Nithyananda, a swami revered by millions worldwide; former professional baseball player Jon Graves; high-profile entertainment and media executive Dea Shandera; former international model Lorelei Shellist; and Harvard Medical School psychiatry professor Dr. Joseph Shrand contributed to the making of “Love Like God”.

Story examples: Image Consultant Anicia Bragg details the trials and rewards of falling in love with a man with children, and discovering that loving one person could lead to much, much more. Deepak Chopra-trained Crystal Dwyer reveals the lessons of compassion, forgiveness, and unconditional love she discovered while confronting her father’s alcoholism. Bestselling author Kristen Moeller reveals her poignant journey of self-love in a struggle with bulimia. Peace promoter Lisa Gibson reveals what led her to choose love over hate after her brother’s untimely death in the 1988 terrorist bombing of Pan Am Flight 103, the single largest attack on innocent American citizens prior to September 11.

Along with each enriching story, readers will find reflections and affirmations to help them grow into a state of unconditional love.

“Unconditional love not only is possible, it is our true nature,” says Shearer. “It requires a shift in our thoughts, which will gradually take shape in our actions. These actions will inspire others, and, ultimately, a critical mass will be reached in the world when humankind experiences spontaneous outpourings of unconditional love. As if by magic, the world will begin to see itself through these new lenses of unconditional love. ‘Love Like God’ sets the stage for that change in consciousness.”
